

FPMA Event Code of Conduct

FPMA events are built on professionalism, respect, and community. We want every participant to feel welcome and safe while enjoying the opportunities to learn, connect, and grow. By attending, you agree to uphold the following standards:

Respect for Everyone

Treat fellow attendees, speakers, exhibitors, and staff with courtesy. Harassment, discrimination, or disruptive behavior of any kind will not be tolerated.

Professional Behavior

Engage in conversations, networking, and business dealings in a way that reflects positively on you, your company, and the pest management industry.

Safe Participation

Follow event rules, venue guidelines, and all applicable laws. This includes observing safety measures during educational sessions, demonstrations, and recreational activities.

Positive Communication

FPMA encourages open exchange of ideas. Keep discussions constructive and professional, whether in person or through FPMA's online platforms.

Accountability

Anyone asked to stop inappropriate behavior is expected to comply immediately. FPMA reserves the right to take necessary action, including removal from the event without refund, to maintain a safe and respectful environment.

If You Have a Concern

Please contact an FPMA staff member right away. Concerns will be handled promptly and with discretion.
