

Leveraging Culture to Become the Employer of Choice.

As we struggle industry-wide with attracting and hiring good employees, companies should use their culture as a tool to become the employer of choice. In this session, learn how to systematically create, drive, and sustain a culture that differentiates you from your competition and helps you attract and retain the best people.