

JEREMY MANEOL

Environmental Pest Services

Operations & Technical Training Specialist

Jeremy is an experienced lawn & ornamental specialist with more than 23 years in the industry. Residing in Florida most of his life, he has spent the vast majority of his career dedicating his time to field/technician training, lawn/ornamental expertise and above all, improving customer service. Through his technical, hands-on approach as a consultant at Pest Management University, he has been able to positively influence the workmanship of technicians, field-managers, and other training specialists.

His commitment to improving training initiatives industry-wide has been seen through his leadership with FPMA, Florida Pest Management and with EPS. Best known for his role on the FPMA Executive Committee, he continues to remain dedicated to improving health, the environment, and wellness in our local communities.

You can never have too much passion for doing something you love!
