Operations & Training
Specialist

Bug Out Service

My name is Jeremy Maneol. I started in the pest control industry in 1998 with Bug Out Service in Jacksonville, FL. and I am still part of that family along with Environmental Pest Service our holding company. I chose this field because I wanted to start a new and lasting career for my family. The pest control industry has given me a lot and I want to continue this journey for as long as I can.

Currently I am the Operations and Training specialist for Environmental Pest Service for our East Florida region (Bug Out Service). I have held many positions at Bug Out Service. I started as a technician and held that position 7 years, I was a service manager for 10 years, technical director for 2 years, branch manager for 1 year and have been in my current position for 2 years.

I am currently a Florida certified operator in L&O, GHP, and Termite. I also hold my L&O license in Georgia.

During my career I have been a part of a few boards and training platforms in the industry. I was part of the Bayer advisory board for 3 years (2013-2015). I have also been on the board for Pest Management University in Apopka since 2014 and I currently assist Dr. Faith Oi and Paul Mitola in the development and training for the L&O classes at PMU.

I have been a part of the FPMA for 21 years. Many of those years were just as an attendee at Region meetings, but I wanted to do more than just be at the meeting. In 2015 I became the assistant director for Region 5 and in 2016 the Region 5 director. I have help organize and host 4 FPMA clay shoots, I was on the summer conference committee in 2016, I have been on the PAC committee since 2017, I was recently on the education committee for the 2019 EXPO where I also arranged our key note speaker.

I hope to continue my journey in this industry and also continue to be a part of the FPMA family.
