

"What to do when you don't know what to do" is intended to assist new employees in their decision-making process by having the individual ask and answer three questions. Based upon their answers, they will be able to determine the best resolution for their customer, their company, and themselves. There will be instances where the technician will still need direction from their direct supervisor, but a majority of common questions from customers will be easily answered by following this method.