Tommy Powell

Technical Field Specialist

Thomas (Tommy) Powell joined MGK Insect Control Solutions as a Technical Field Specialist in 2016.

He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in Urban Entomology from the University of Florida. Prior to working at MGK, Tommy worked 16 years in the pest management industry. He worked as Technical Director for three top 100 pest companies. He also held the position of Branch Manager for one of those companies for five years. That experience in operations changed his perspective on the pest management industry, as he realized the value of strong training programs for operators.

When MGK® was founded in 1902, its principal business was grinding spices. By 1915, a variety of botanicals, including pyrethrum, were added to the portfolio. By continually fine-tuning extraction, refinement, standardization and innovation, we consistently develop and provide high-quality pyrethrum-based and man made technological products.

Four generations of family management have guided MGK since its founding. This long tradition of stability and continuity is a major reason we have earned the respect of business and scientific communities around the world. We pursue new answers to insect control with internal research projects as well as through sponsorship of others at universities and institutions.
